

THE
DUBLIN REVIEW.

71

VOL. XIX. NEW SERIES.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,

DETROIT, MICH.

SEP 17 1888

JULY—OCTOBER,

MDCCCLXXII.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,

SEP 17 1888

LONDON:

BURNS, OATES, & CO., 17 & 18, PORTMAN STREET,

AND 63 PATERNOSTER ROW.

DERBY: RICHARDSON & SONS.

DUBLIN: JAMES DUFFY; W. B. KELLY; McGLASHAN & GILL.

BALTIMORE: KELLY, PIET & CO.

MONTREAL, CANADA: SADLER & CO.

1872.

LONDON:
WYNAN AND SONS, PRINTERS, GREAT QUEEN STREET,
LINCOLN'S INN FIELDS, W.C.

CONTENTS.

---

ART. I.—UNSECTARIANISM AND SCIENTIFIC SECULARISM.

Tendency of intellectual error to produce national decay . . . . .	1
England now entering on a social transformation . . . . .	3
Plans for the education and physical amelioration of the people . . . .	4
What share can physical science bear in such education and amelioration ? . . . . .	5
Statements of Professor Tyndall . . . . .	6
Statements of Mr. Herbert Spencer . . . . .	8
Statements of Professor Huxley . . . . .	9
Statements of other and inferior writers . . . . .	12
Summary of their teaching . . . . .	14
Professor Huxley's avowal of intolerance . . . . .	16
Unsectarian Education . . . . .	19
On what ground can antitheists maintain the supreme importance of truth ? . . . . .	24

---

ART. II.—S. MARY MAGDALENE IN THE GOSPELS.

The received Catholic view, that S. Mary Magdalene is identical with Mary of Bethany and the peccatrix of Luke vii. . . . .	28
On exclusively scriptural grounds this view holds . . . . .	29
Two distinct acts of anointing . . . . .	30
Mary of Bethany identical with the peccatrix . . . . .	31
The peccatrix identical with Mary Magdalene . . . . .	35
Mary of Bethany identical with Mary Magdalene . . . . .	42
Negative evidence of scripture . . . . .	44
Similarity of interior character . . . . .	45
Conjectural harmony of scripture statements . . . . .	46
Weight of the Church's authority in the question . . . . .	47
Importance of Catholics cultivating scriptural criticism . . . . .	48

---

ART. III.—THE CARTE PAPERS.

Report of Dr. Russell and Mr. Prendergast . . . . .	49
The Duke of Ormond . . . . .	50
The Irish Civil War of 1641. . . . .	52
Its principal leaders . . . . .	54
Character of General Eoghan O'Neill . . . . .	56
Ormond's part in the War . . . . .	58

The Nuncio Rinuccini . . . . .	62
O'Neill and Munro . . . . .	63
O'Neill and Preston . . . . .	66
The Parliament's Army in Dublin. . . . .	69
Ormond's retirement . . . . .	72
His return . . . . .	74
O'Neill and Monk . . . . .	76
Death of O'Neill . . . . .	78
Cromwell's campaign . . . . .	80
The scaffold after the sword . . . . .	82
Ormond and Bishop French . . . . .	83

---

ART. IV.—REPLY TO MR. RENOUF BY F. BOTTALLA.—ORTHODOXY OF
POPE HONORIUS I.

Mr. Renouf's first thesis . . . . .	85
The doctrine of one will . . . . .	87
The letter of Sergius . . . . .	88
The first letter of Pope Honorius . . . . .	90
The second letter . . . . .	92
Contemporary witnesses . . . . .	94
Mr. Renouf's charges against Abbot John . . . . .	97
The Council of Lateran . . . . .	99
The Fathers and the Monothelite doctrine . . . . .	101

---

ART. V.—THE PRIESTHOOD AT IRISH ELECTIONS.

The question to be here discussed . . . . .	103
Essential difference in Ireland between priests' and landlords' influence. . . . .	104
Landlords' influence in Great Britain . . . . .	105
Legitimate and illegitimate influence . . . . .	107
The priests are the Catholic voter's most reasonably trusted guides. . . . .	109
Political immorality of some Irish landlords . . . . .	110
Has any priest ever urged any elector to vote against his genuine conviction? . . . . .	111
The voter's duty of breaking any promise he may have made to vote against his conviction . . . . .	111
The confessional . . . . .	112
Regrettable facts which may have to be admitted. . . . .	113

---

ART. VI.—DR. BAIN ON THE RELATIVITY OF HUMAN KNOWLEDGE.

The law of Relativity . . . . .	114
Summary of Dr. Bain's Philosophy . . . . .	115
Counter argument . . . . .	117
Our knowledge of the Relative . . . . .	120

Contents.

iii

Dr. Bain's Books . . . . .	123
English and Bainite . . . . .	124
Dr. Bain on knowledge . . . . .	127
The aristocracy of intellect . . . . .	131
Professor Ferrier on the function of philosophy . . . . .	135
The human Ego . . . . .	137
Godless philosophy . . . . .	139
The half-way school . . . . .	141
Definition of Being . . . . .	143
Not Self . . . . .	145
The writer's theory . . . . .	148
The standard of truth . . . . .	152
Absolute truth . . . . .	153

ART. VII.—THE LIFE AND TIMES OF SIXTUS THE FIFTH.

Style of Mr. Jerningham's translation . . . . .	155
Character of Baron Hübner's work . . . . .	157
State of Rome and Christendom . . . . .	159
Acts of Pope Sixtus . . . . .	160
His French Policy. . . . .	161
Sixtus V. and Alexander VI. . . . .	164

ART. VIII.—CATHOLIC PRIMARY EDUCATION IN ENGLAND.

Canon Oakeley's three letters . . . . .	164
Strange allegation of his correspondent . . . . .	170
The question of Catholic children receiving secular instruction from a non-Catholic . . . . .	173
A thoroughly Catholic education is rendered much more difficult by the new Act, but not impossible . . . . .	175
Report of the Poor-School Committee . . . . .	178
Alarming prospect for the future . . . . .	189
Political complications in the matter . . . . .	190
The Fribourg Brief . . . . .	122

ART. X.—NOTICES OF BOOKS.

Irish University Education . . . . .	197
Miss Bowles's Life of S. Frances de Chantal . . . . .	198
English Church Defence Tracts . . . . .	204
F. Addis's Anglican Misrepresentations . . . . .	206
F. Newman's Discussions and Arguments on Various Subjects . . . . .	207
"    Lectures on the Present Position of Catholics in England . . . . .	ib.
F. St. John's Sermon on Miss Boys . . . . .	ib.

F. Jones's Creed of St. Athanasius . . . . .	208
Rev. T. S. Preston's Vicar of Christ . . . . .	215
F. Deham's Sacred Heart of Jesus . . . . .	219
F. Bagshawe's Life of our Lord commemorated in the Mass . . . . .	ib.
F. Formby's De Annis Christi Tractatus . . . . .	ib.
Rev. T. Potter's The Spoken Word, or the Art of Extempore Speaking . . . . .	223
The Russian Clergy . . . . .	225
Mr. Brown's Monastic Legends . . . . .	231
P. Gratry's Henri Perreyve . . . . .	232
Louise Lateau . . . . .	235
Rev. M. Dod's Works of S. Augustin . . . . .	237
Rev. J. Long's Scripture Truth in Oriental Dress . . . . .	242
Guide to the Members of the Spiritual Union . . . . .	244
Rev. G. Pye on Education . . . . .	245
Graduale de Tempore et de Sanctis . . . . .	247
Dr. Green's Indulgences and Sacramental Absolutions . . . . .	249
F. Bowden's Thoughts on Some Passages of Holy Scripture . . . . .	253
Mgr. Pie's Sermon, Shall France Perish? . . . . .	ib.
Catholic Progress . . . . .	254
Rev. M. MacColl's Damnnatory Clauses of the Athanasian Creed . . . . .	ib.
The House of Yorke . . . . .	255

---

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—THE PRIESTHOOD IN IRISH POLITICS.

Culpable ignorance of Englishmen on the Galway election . . . . .	257
Conduct of the priests . . . . .	258
Catholic tenantry unanimous for Nolan . . . . .	260
Proofs of landlord tyranny . . . . .	262
Political duty of Catholic priests . . . . .	266
Irish Synodal Decrees on this matter . . . . .	269
Duty of electors to vote according to their consciences . . . . .	271
Priestly intervention in purely political questions . . . . .	273
Is such intervention contrary to English law ? . . . . .	280
Proposal of disfranchising Catholic electors . . . . .	282
Results which would inevitably ensue from this . . . . .	284
The duty of English legislators to acquaint themselves with Irish phenomena . . . . .	287
Advantages which would result from this . . . . .	289
What may be done by Irishmen themselves . . . . .	291

ART. II.—THE MIDDLE AGES : THEIR POSITION AND CHURCH HISTORY.

Analogy of the Church's life to Christ's . . . . .	294
The doctors of the Church . . . . .	296
Her schools of theological thought . . . . .	298
Her Head . . . . .	300
The Middle Ages in Church history . . . . .	302
Their moral superiority to the present time . . . . .	304
The Bishop of Poitiers' sermon, "Shall France perish ?" . . . . .	305
Leading minds of the Middle Ages . . . . .	307
The great breach between the Church and the world . . . . .	308
The Reformation . . . . .	311
Character of the thirteenth century . . . . .	313
Development of dogma in it . . . . .	317
The Sum of S. Thomas . . . . .	321
The work of S. Bonaventure . . . . .	322
Albert the Great . . . . .	323

Duns Scotus . . . . .	325
Characteristic devotions of the time . . . . .	326
Mediæval art . . . . .	327
Intellectual progress in those ages . . . . .	330
The formation of Christendom . . . . .	331
Conclusion . . . . .	332

---

ART. III.—CATHOLICITY IN GERMANY.

Character of Dr. Felix's work . . . . .	335
Idolatry of the State in Germany . . . . .	337
Attitude of the German Protestants . . . . .	338
The Professors . . . . .	339
The "Deutsche Merkur" . . . . .	340
Catholic clubs . . . . .	341
The German clergy . . . . .	342
The Old Catholic Congress . . . . .	343
Article of the "Spectator" . . . . .	344
Mr. Allies' speech . . . . .	349

---

ART. IV.—THE LEGENDS OF SAINT PATRICK.

Modern poetry . . . . .	351
The modern poet . . . . .	353
The Catholic poet . . . . .	354
Mr. De Vere's ideal . . . . .	355
His devotion to the Irish Church . . . . .	359
His idea of Ireland . . . . .	360
Connection of his works . . . . .	362
His poems on the Famine . . . . .	363
The mission of Ireland . . . . .	367
Young Ireland . . . . .	368
Estimate of the "Legends" . . . . .	369
Passages from them . . . . .	371
Defects in Mr. De Vere's work . . . . .	381
Conclusion . . . . .	383

---

ART. V.—A WORD ON CLÆSICAL STUDIES.

Necessity of a concordat in the controversy on classical studies . . . . .	384
Views of Dr. Bulcox . . . . .	385
Objections of F. Miles . . . . .	389
The Bishop of Aquila's views . . . . .	390
Real ground for a concordat . . . . .	392

ART. VI.—THE WORKS OF MR. ANTHONY TROLLOPE.

Mr. Trollope's status as a novelist . . . . .	393
His peculiar characteristics . . . . .	394
His relation to the age . . . . .	397
His style . . . . .	398
His familiarity with political life . . . . .	400
Absence of morbidness in his works . . . . .	402
His views of religion . . . . .	404
The Irish novels . . . . .	405
The MacDermots . . . . .	406
The Kellys and the O'Kellys . . . . .	411
Castle Richmond . . . . .	413
His clerical novels . . . . .	417
Character of Archdeacon Grantly . . . . .	418
Character of Mr. Arabin . . . . .	419
His clergymen in general . . . . .	422
Mr. Crawley . . . . .	424
His lawyers . . . . .	425
His descriptions of high life . . . . .	426
His young ladies . . . . .	429
Mrs. Greenow and Mrs. Barnaby . . . . .	430

ART. VII.—LORD ARUNDELL ON TRADITION.

Character of Lord Arundell's work . . . . .	431
His view of the Law of Nations . . . . .	432
The traditions of mankind as a branch of science . . . . .	434
Primitive life . . . . .	435
The Negro . . . . .	437
Lord Arundell on mythology . . . . .	442
His chapters on the Law of Nations . . . . .	442

ART. VIII.—RIO'S MEMOIRS ON CHRISTIAN ART.

Character of M. Rio's present work . . . . .	448
His birthplace and early life . . . . .	448
His studies . . . . .	451
His first lectures . . . . .	451
His connection with Count de la Ferronnays . . . . .	453
Visits Italy . . . . .	455
At Munich with De la Mennais . . . . .	459
Pursues his art studies . . . . .	464
Visits England . . . . .	466
Impressions of Macaulay . . . . .	466
Thomas Carlyle . . . . .	468

Archdeacon Manning . . . . .	470
The La Ferronnays family . . . . .	471
Conclusion . . . . .	475

---

ART. IX.—THE PRESENT ANGLICAN POSITION.

Two Anglican controversies now proceeding . . . . .	476
Mr. MacColl's work on the Athanasian Creed . . . . .	477
True meaning of the "damnatory clauses" . . . . .	478
Three classes of objectors to these clauses . . . . .	481
Compulsory Anglican recital of the Athanasian Creed . . . . .	486
"Church of England Defence Tracts" on Anglican orders . . . . .	488
Grotesque unhistoricalness of High-churchism . . . . .	490
Basis of the Catholic historical argument . . . . .	491
High-churchmen must in consistency accuse Roman Catholics of heresy . . . . .	493
Anglican communion manifestly uncatholic . . . . .	493
Dr. Pusey's counter-theory refuted by himself . . . . .	499
Historical proof of the Papal doctrine . . . . .	500

---

ART. X.—NOTICES OF BOOKS.

F. Palma's History of the Sacred Passion . . . . .	506
The "Civiltà Cattolica" on F. Faber's Spiritual Works . . . . .	507
Mrs. Oliphant's Memoir of Count de Montalembert . . . . .	508
Contemporary Review, 1872, Art. I. : Is God unknowable ? . . . .	512
F. Morris's Troubles of our Catholic Forefathers related by Themselves . . . . .	513
Mrs. Hope's Sequel to the Conversion of the Teutonic Race . . . . .	517
Dr. Newman's Historical Sketches . . . . .	519
F. Scaramelli's Directorium Asceticum . . . . .	520
Pax : Monastic Gleanings. No. I. . . . .	521
Sancti Alphonsi Doctoris Officium Parvum . . . . .	522
F. Bowden's Thoughts on some Passages of Holy Scripture . . . . .	522
F. Rawes' Great Truths in Little Words . . . . .	523
Sermons by the Fathers of the Congregation of S. Paul the Apostle, New York . . . . .	524
Dr. Liddon's Lectures on some Elements of Religion . . . . .	525
Reflections on the Passion . . . . .	525
Wilfulness and its Consequences . . . . .	525
Little Pierre, the Pedlar of Alsace . . . . .	526
Aunt Margaret's Little Neighbours . . . . .	526
Mr. Baring-Gould's Lives of the Saints . . . . .	527
Contemplations on the Blessed Sacrament . . . . .	527
Lady G. Fullerton's Dramas from the Lives of the Saints . . . . .	527